LEXINGTON SALE IS OVER

SECOND DAY'S RESULTS SOMEWHAT BETTER THAN THOSE OF OPENING DAY.

Eighty-One Yearlings Sold for Average of $163 Each -Twenty-Three in One Lot Average $223-Brother to Roseben Brings $1,100.

Lexington, Ky., November 22.—The Powers-Hun-ter Company's auction of thoroughbred horses was concluded today, with better prices for yearlings than were obtained yesterday for stallions, mares and weanlings. The aggregate for 182 head sold during the two days was $20,360, making an average of $111.80, which is discouragingly low to breeders, even though a number of the mares were old and poor in flesh.

The eighty-one yearlings sold today brought a to-even though a number of the mares were old and poor in flesh.

The eighty-one yearlings sold today brought a total of $13,225, an average of $163. Of these twenty-three were owned in partnership by Messrs. Milton Young, John D. Carr and Thomas Platt, and they brought $5,120, an average of $223. In addition to the yearlings that were sold today, seventeen other animals went under the hammer for $1,285, making a total for the day of ninety-eight head at $14,510, an average of $148.

The highest price of the day and sale was $1,100 for the yearling brother to Roseben, from the consignment of Major Thomas J. Carson, J. E. Davis of New York and Phil T. Chinn were contending bidders, Mr. Davis' last bid being $1,050. Mr. Chinn raised him $50 and got the colt, announcing that he had purchased him for J. A. McCormick.

The second highest price was $725, paid by J. E. Davis for a brother to Etherial. Mr. Davis and his wife together bought seven head. The yearlings are to be trained here by James P. Ross and the older horses are to go to New York for cross-country purposes.

THIRTY LEADING MONEY-WINNING OWNERS OF 1911

Sam Hildreth having, presumably, retired from racing for this year, is still the leader of our winning ners, but in view of the fact that the John W. Schorr horses are to continue in action, his position as h is not assured. Mr. Schorr is but $3.856 behind him in stable earnings and, with fortune favoring the ter, it is not at all improbable that the veteran Memphis turfman may for the first time in his life of the distinction of being the leading American owner. R. T. Wilson is third and R. F. Carman fourth the winning list, but too far away to have anything like the chance of overhauling Hildreth that begs to Mr. Schorr. At present the stable earnings of our thirty leading owners are as follows:

MUCH INTEREST IN COLUMBIA MEETING.

Norfolk, Va., November 22.—The forthcoming meeting at Columbia, S. C., beginning Thanksgiving Day, November 30, and continuing for thirty-three days, gives promise of being successful, if the words of encouragement heard on all sides be taken as a criterion of the interest manifested in the project. Columbia boasts as good and safe a mile track as there is in the country, with all the necessary facilities for the proper care of the valuable thoroughbreds that will be housed on the grounds. There will be accommodations for 600 horses in first-class stalls. Another noteworthy essential is the excellent drinking water that will be available. Applications have already been received for over 300 stalls from all parts of the country.

HILDRETH'S RETURN PUZZLING HIS FRIENDS

New York, November 22.—Confirmation of the report that Samuel C. Hildreth is returning from England came by cable to Charles Kohler yesterday. Whether or not Mr. Hildreth has changed his plans for racing in England is a puzzle to his friends. The cablegram received by Charles Kohler, owner of Fitz Herbert, Zeus, Novelty and other horses of distinction, was brief, and the return of the famous trainer is eagerly awaited. Mrs. Hildreth and jockey Carroll Shilling are also on their way back to this country. On the same steamer is Prince Poniatowski of Paris, a close friend of Mr. Hildreth, who formerly took an active part in California raching, as president of the San Francisco Jockey Club.

The Charleston Fair and Racing Association's offering of twenty stake races to be run during the course of the approaching Charleston meeting dignifies it in the eyes of owners and enhances its claims to appreciative patronage. There are not lacking indications that the Charleston meeting is likely to be as strikingly successful as was that at Jacksonville last winter. Charleston is blessed with mild winter weather and many northerners attracted by the racing will linger in its hotels and discover that they have lost little in the way of comfort in cutting short their accustomed winter trip to Florida. The events offered will close for entries December 16 and are as follows:

Baron Rothschild has cabled to August Belmont notifying jockey Eddie Dugan to postpone his trip to Vienna until March 1. He will ride for the same owner at Charleston this winter.

HOW A $400 YEARLING SOLD FOR $30,000.

"One frequently hears the remark that a horseman is of necessity a gambler," remarked a man who has had much to do with both running and trotting horses. "I maintain that there are many men connected with racing who should no more be classed in the gambler's category than the average merchant who buys or sells merchandise. We are all gamblers, if it comes to that, even though we never turn a card or hazard a dollar on the result of a trial of speed between horses.

"I recall one horseman who gambled to some purpose, and no one could find anything in the transaction to question. Some years ago there was a colored trainer of thoughbreds named Albert Cooper, who was uncommonly skillful in his profession.

"He handled large strings of thoroughbreds at various times for such men as the late George L. Hearst and 'Lucky' Baldwin, also James R. Keene, and it was while training for the last-named turfman that he made the gamble which brought him more money than he ever expected to possess at one time.

"Cooper was training a few of the Keene horses, when he saw a yearling colt in one of the summer sales that he fancled, and he determined to take a chance and buy him if he did not go too high. The youngster was a chestnut in color, and was by Hyder Ali out of Glorianne, by Joe Danlels.

"On the day of the sale Cooper learned that Johnny Sheridan, a capable exercising boy, who was rapidly becoming too heavy to ride, was thinking of bidding on the colt, and before Auctioneer Easton called for a bid on the opening lot the colored trainer and the youthful Irish-American lad had agreed to them nobody else fancled the big, lumbering fellow particularly, and they became his owner for something under $400.

"When he was broken that fall he didn't show anything phenomenal and he was permitted to run wild in a big paddock near the upper turn. He roughed it in every sense of the word, his coat unkempt and his mane and tall full of burrs.

"He was a sorry-looking prospect and wouldn't have brought $100 at auction. He also fell lame.

Whenever anybody asked Albert if Domino was fast he would smile, shake his head and reply:

"Yes, boss, he sure is speedy, that Domino hoss."

"He may have been more open with Mr. Keene, but to the world at large the information that Domino was speedy sufficed. The colored man was amazed one day shortly after the training season opened when two of William Lakeland's men came over from Brighton Beach with an order for the black colt and another. Mr. Keene had made arrangements with the wizard of Brighton to train Domino and El Telegrafo, and friends of Cooper say there were tears in his eyes as he watched the pair depart.

"Mr. Keene on his weekly visits always told the colored man of Domino's progress and prophesied a great record for the youngster. In his opinion he was the best horse that he had ever owned, and those who heard him make this remark at once recalled that Spendthrift and Foxhall had both borne the white and blue dots. He asked Cooper if he had heard anything remarkable in the way of trials at Gravesend or Sheepshead Bay.

"No, boss, nothing out of the ordinary, was Albert's reply; but all the time he was putting his big colt through his work in deadly earnest, most of the trials being before anybody else was astir.

"The season opened at Gravesend in those days, and Domino flashed upon the turf horizon like a meteor, winning an overnight race as his maiden, and following this a few days later with a dazzling victory in the Great American Stakes, worth $18.7675 to the winner. The Great Eclipse, the richest stake event at Morris Park, worth $16,750, was won with consummate ease by the black whirlwind, and the turf enthusiasts were already proclaiming him the champion of his age and year.

"Mr. Keene spent the greater part of every Sunday, after he had feasted his eyes on Domino, Mr. Keene drove to the colored trainer's quarters and chided him for concealing his unnamed prodigy.

"It didn't know, boss, whether you'd care to look at a foah hundred dollar boss."

"The instant the big colt had been po

"'He's not lot sair, was, "He's not lot sair, was, the next question Mr. Keene propounded.
"'What a few small stakes, boss, and then "pint" him for the Futurity," said Cooper.
"'Don't you know that Domino's in the Futurity What would your colt do with him?' queried Mr. Keene.

next question Mr. Keene propounded.

"Whn a few small stakes, boss, and then "pint" him for the Futurity, said Cooper.

"Pon't you know that Domino's in the Futurity? What would your colt do with him?" queried Mr. Keene.

"Nothin', boss,' was Cooper's quiet reply, 'except just run away and hide from them."

"This was too much for Mr. Keene, who exploded. The colored man waited till the storm had passed and then, facing his employer, he said:

"You're a rich man, boss, and I'm a poor colored man training some of your bosses. You all think Domino's the fastest hoss in the world. I don't. You all want me to put a price on that colt, and I says he's not for sale. But, boss, tell you what I'll do. I'll run you hoss again hoss tomorrow morning to see who takes both of them.

"This startling proposition staggered the millionaire, who looked at Cooper. The colored man's face was stern and he stood stolidly with his short, stout legs braced determinedly. Mr. Keene did not take up the defi, but the next morning he saw the chestnut colt work an amazing trial. He had the boy and the saddle weighed, and realized that Cooper possessed a horse of undoubted quality.

"The following Sunday he was at the course once more and looked over the big son of Hyder Ali. The Futurity that year would be worth more than $50,000 to the winner and it had been an almost foregone conclusion that Domino could pick up all his penalties and win until this comparatively unknown colt of Cooper's turned up. It would be astorke of enterprise to get him out of the way, and the result was an offer of $20,000, which Cooper deelined without an instant's hesitation.

"Give you $25,000, Cooper,' called the turfman as he stepped into his trap to be driven to the rallroad station that evening.

"No, thanks, boss," was the colored man's reply as he turned away.

"That night, however, Johnny Sheridan and Cooper talked it over till well into the morning hours, and the boy was in favor of selling if the offer should be raised to $30,000. It was a lot of money, h number of times that year and in all states and 11,1000.

"In the Futurity he ran coupled in the betting with Domino and fell, Domino winning, to the disgust of Cooper, who maintained to his dying day that Hyder Abad would have won but for the mispap. Fitzpatrick, who rode the colt and who has also passed away, told his friends that Hyder Abad was going great guns when he was thrown."
